MEN OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ENTERTAIN.

The men of the Presbyterian church very pleasantly entertained the ladies of the church in the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday evening of last week. Not for years has such a thoroughly enjoyable affair been held among the members of this church.

Notwithstanding the fact that the clouds were threatening to give Mother Earth another drenching, about one hundred and seventy-five people gathered in the hall. They were there to enjoy themselves, and they did not go away disappointed. Games of various kinds were played, and the amusing event of the evening was the renditions of the men's glee club, under the direction of Prof. Spencer Robinson, every member of which endeavored to sing a different tune at the same time in a different key. At times the harmony was truly excruciating. The redeeming feature of it was that they really intended to sing in that manner, and later they demonstrated that they are capable of producing remarkably good music. Prof. Gates of the High School gave a piano solo, and Prof. Robinson sang a couple of solos in his usual inimitable manner, being accompanied by Mr. Wallace. Robert Lyons also told how a German set a hen.

A feature of the evening was the "fake" refreshments. They were really novel. An old-fashioned sawbuck was prepared, and upon this a three-foot loaf of bread, baked at the Glendale bakery, was placed; then, with an old-fashioned bucksaw, F. C. Hoffman proceeded to produce the refreshments by sawing slice after slice from the log of bread. The pieces of bread were passed around, and later J. E. Colvin circulated with a large head of cabbage, which he shared among the guests. Particularly dangerous looking were the sentinels who guarded the refreshment room, prohibiting the ladies from entering. The guards were Mr. Royce and Mr. Carmichael. Later in the evening delicious "eatable" refreshments were served.

Nearly all of the men of the church assisted in preparing and serving the refreshments and arranging the affair, and they should be given much credit for their faithful and efficient work. They proved that when it comes to "domestic" duties they are "it."

The contest in the Sabbath school as to new members has been extended to Easter.

GLENDALE TO BE REPRESENTED.

At a meeting held in Los Angeles early this week, at which E. D. Goode of this city was present, Glendale was allotted a space of 10x24 feet in the mammoth exhibit which will be held by the Pacific Land and Products Exhibition Company in the Al Malikah Shrine Coliseum, corner Jefferson and Royal streets, Los Angeles, from March 18th to April 2d.

A meeting was called for Wednesday evening of this week to be held in the Glendale High School auditorium, but on account of the continued rains the meeting was postponed. The time for the meeting at which this very important matter will be presented to the citizens of Glendale has not definitely been settled, but will doubtless be held as soon as possible. Notice will be given in time for the meeting.

The Pacific Lands and Products Exhibition Company has been organized for the purpose of holding an exhibition of lands and products of the territory of the United States west of the Rocky Mountains and including the Republic of Mexico. The organization is headed by the strongest executive committee ever brought together for any such purpose and is indorsed by the press of Los Angeles and by every business interest in the city.

The exhibition will be held at the height of the tourist season in Southern California and while the low colonist rates from the East are in effect. Thousands of homeseekers come to Los Angeles at this season of the year and are interested in securing all available information concerning lands in this section, where they will make their future home.

The space allotted to Glendale in this show is liberal indeed, and the people of this town should leave nothing undone which will tend to make our exhibit one of the finest in the exhibit. We can do it if we try and put our shoulders to the wheel and work. Glendale has never gone into anything where she has not carried off some of the honors, so let us be awake to this excellent opportunity to show off our town.

Messrs. E. D. Goode and E. U. Emery have this matter in charge and will be pleased to answer any questions on the matter.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Mrs. Dwight Griswold and Mrs. C. R. Wilkinson proved themselves delightful hostesses Thursday, March 2, when the club met for its regular session. Mrs. Nathan Weston from the college settlement gave the club an insight into the work of the district nurses of Los Angeles. There are five of these nurses, paid by the city, and Mrs. Weston has been in charge of the work for over 13 years. It is not generally known what a great good this organization is doing in case of accident or sickness among the poorer classes. Mrs. Weston's talk was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. W. G. Black and Mrs. Dwight Griswold, delegates from the Thursday Afternoon club, had the pleasure of attending a very enjoyable reciprocity meeting at Eagle Rock last month and gave the club a glowing account of the day's program. Mrs. Emil F. Tholen, also Mrs. Black, represented their club at the Sierra Madre club's reciprocity meeting and both gave splendid reports.

The club will meet March 16 with Miss Cecelia Harris. Dr. Lillian Russell and Miss Harriet Myers will assist Miss Harris. Miss Susan E. Pierce, instructor in domestic science at the Y. W. C. A., will give a talk. This is a subject that should interest every club member and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

SHAMROCK LUNCHEON

On Monday last seventy-two guests comprising members of the "Maids and Matrons" and their friends gathered in the parlors of the Glendale Country Club.

The club was once more made beautiful with artistic decorations; this time consiting of branches of golden acacia and Irish flax. Upon entering the reception hall the guests were greeted with the Irish phrase, "Caed mile failthe," meaning a hundred thousand welcomes. Mrs. Daniel Campbell was hostess of the occasion and was assisted in the receiving line by Mrs. Menzo Williams, president of the "Maids and Matrons," and Mrs. V. Price Brown.

The afternoon began with a dainty course luncheon served at tables where covers were laid for four and which were uniformly decorated with acacia and shamrock. Places were marked with appropriate cards which were later used as score cards.

Upon opening her napkin each lady found a quotation which she read aloud, after which it was voted that Mrs. A. L. Bryant's conveyed the prettiest sentiment, where upon Mrs. Bryant was presented with a handsomely bound cookery book.

Following this an original poem was read which gracefully conveyed to those present the object of the Maids and Matrons and the necessary qualities one must possess to become eligible to their ranks.

The luncheon was served by Miss Emma Williams, Miss Clara Peterson, Miss Eleanor Richards, Miss Bertha Peterson, Miss Jennie B. McPeak and Miss Nell Robb.

The remainder of the afternoon was then devoted to five hundred. At the close of the games, Mrs. G. W. Nethery was presented with the first prize, Miss Eleanor Richards the second, Mrs. A. W. Dow the first consolation, and Mrs. W. L. Truitt, second consolation.

The luncheon was the first of a series to be given by the board of directors of the Maids and Matrons and is considered one of the best of their many social successes this season.

AN ARTISTIC EVENING.

Miss Alice Frank, in honor of Mrs. Enoch Pepper and Miss Elizabeth Pepper entertained a number of friends at San Rafael Rancho, her home on Colorado street. The house was artistically decorated with spring blossoms and ferns. The first part of the evening was passed modeling animals of clay. After each guest had more or less proven artistic ability a guessing contest ensued, during which an effort was made to classify the creatures. Mrs. Loon H. Hurtt was awarded the first ladies' prize, Mr. John Smalley, first gentleman's prize, Mrs. Ernest Owen, second ladies' prize, Mr. Archie Shaver, second gentleman's prize, and Miss Lorraine Mitchell and Mr. F. Gates consolation prizes. A number of excellent musical selections were another pleasant feature of the evening's enjoyments.

Dainty and unique refreshments were served in Mr. Eugene Frank's studio where his pictures of strength and character were thoroughly enjoyed and admired, completing a very delightful evening.

AT FERNHILL.

On Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Pirtle assisted by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Owen entertained a number of friends in their charming new home, Fernhill, on La Canada boulevard.

The evening began with a unique informal introduction which was followed by a delightful conversational game in which the guests became exceptionally well acquainted in the short time each couple was allotted. After that everyone tried their skill at sewing a cow and it was decided that Miss Clara Peterson and Mr. Harry Peterson were the most accomplished in that art and were forthwith presented with very handsome prizes.

After the serving of refreshments the guests were favored with several well rendered vocal solos. They then departed in their private car at the close of an unusually pleasant evening.

GLENDALE, CAL., MARCH 10, 1911

In Los Angeles last Monday fourteen out of fifteen amendments to that city's charter were adopted, there being less than 15,000 votes cast, not one-half as many as were cast at the last mayorality election.

In the issue of the NEWS of Feb. 24 we invited Brother Melrose of the Tropico Sentinel to wade in as the water was warm and getting deeper. The special issue of the Sentinel on the eve of the late election convinces us that we used the wrong word, we should have said "hotter," not deeper.

The California Outlook, which is a consolidation of the late California Weekly and the Pacific Outlook, reaches our editorial desk. It has offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and for contributing editors has Charles D. Willard and A. J. Pillsbury, a strong combination which guarantees an unusually able and independent publication.

Citizens of Sierra Madre and vicinity are refusing to pay for the spraying of their trees under the order of the horticultural commission, claiming that the work done is not effectual. Commissioner Meserve informed a committee that called upon him that owners are not expected to pay when the work does not accomplish the desired result.

L. B. Vollmer of Monrovia has made what appears to be a remarkably generous offer to the people of that city who are anxious to secure a hotel. He has a tract of land consisting of forty-nine lots and agrees if purchasers are found for all of them that he will put the sum total received into a first-class up-to-date hotel. The Messenger reports twenty-three of the lots already disposed of and the sale of the remainder appears to be a forgone conclusion.

Woman Suffrage.

The debate at the Friday Morning club last Friday between Mrs. Coswell and Mrs. Simonds, was one of the first of many such interesting discussions which will characterize the campaign just now actually beginning over the question of the adoption of the constitutional amendment which proposes to give the franchise to women in this state. The debate in question must have impressed the large audience with at least two ideas, that the speakers were very able women and that there are two sides to the question. Before the matter comes to an issue the voters and others will learn that it is not a question of sentiment, of justice or injustice, but solely a question as to whether it will be better for both men and women that this radical change should be made in our political system.

According to the wish of the majority of the citizens of Tropico, that place is now an incorporated city of the sixth class. The residents favoring incorporation were forty-seven more in number than were those opposing the movement. The election was the culmination of a struggle which included slander and personal mention, the like of which the people of the valley do not again care to witness, and which should be most carefully avoided.

Although during most of the day the rain fell in torrents the opposing factions succeeded in getting out a fairly good representative vote and one which probably expressed the wish of the people in as satisfactorilly a manner as would have been expressed had all of the voters registered, voted.

The incorporationists are jubilliant and are crowing over their victory, but their opponents claim that they are not through with the matter yet. The injunction case comes up again for hearing in Los Angeles next Monday, we understand, and at that time the antis claim that they will have something to say. J. B. Treadwell, owner of the Forest Lawn cemetery, claims he will fight the issue to a bitter finish.

UNAVOIDABLE.

A recent number of the Catholic Tidings has a reference to our special edition, and notes that it contained cuts of "all the Protestant churches" here, but omitted that of the Catholic church. As a matter of fact, we published pictures of only three Glendale churches, leaving out the Episcopal, Baptist, West Glendale Methodist and the Catholic; which does not indicate discrimination against the latter, but only shows that in the final make-up of the paper we were short of space, and had to do the best we could.

UNREASONABLE.

A contemporary calls for the teaching of reading, writing and spelling in our public schools, which shows that all of the newspapers do not keep up with the times. These mossbacks in journalism will next be demanding that simple old-fashioned arithmetic, and possibly that mental brand known to our ancestors as the multiplication table, shall also be taught. It is unreasonable in our contemporaries to insist upon adding these studies to the grammar school curriculum, when everybody knows that we pay taxes for the purpose of having the youngsters in knickerbockers taught algebra, English literature, Sloyd, civics, How to Make Pan Dowdies and cute little Chinese puzzles out of yarn (the puzzles, not the dowdies) and a lot of other twentieth century kinks in the higher education!

The compulsory arbitration bill was defeated in the senate at Sacramento last week by a vote of 22 to 16. This is a measure patterned after one that is in vogue in Canada and has some of the features of the Australian compulsory arbitration laws. It was proposed by Col. Weinstock, a wealthy public-spirited merchant of Sacramento, who visited Australia, New Zealand and Canada in order to familiarize himself with the features and practical workings of the law. The opposition to the law came from the labor unions and to that fact is due its defeat and not to any apparent defect or injustice in the bill. It is based upon the idea that in all serious labor disputes there are three parties, the third being the great middle class not a party to the contest but often vitally interested; the measure assuming to protect the interests of this class against the action of a militant minority.

A REAL ACCOMPLISHMENT.

In securing a reciprocity treaty with Canada, President Taft has demonstrated his statesmanship, and in refusing to ratify that treaty before the adjournment of congress, leaving it to be done by their Democratic successors, Republican representatives, whether they are "progressive" or "conservative," have failed to rise to a great opportunity and have done much to handicap the party in the next presidential campaign. For, with all the talk about a reduction of tariff, there has been very little accomplished in the way of reduction by the "insurgent" element, while the president has given the country actions for words, business for bombast. It is not the big interests alone which clog the wheels of progress, but the little local interests as well, which dictate to small men in public life and compel them to support or oppose measures simply because of their bearing upon local matters. The position of the president in regard to reciprocity, if he is ultimately supported by the Democrats, will result in a new party alignment, but further than that prophecy is uncertain, when a would-be prophet recalls the possibly providential proneness of the Democratic party to blunder in a great crisis.

THE CITY OF TROPICO.

The majority of the voters of Tropico who expressed their preference at the election on the question of incorporation on Tuesday last, decided to incorporate as a city of the sixth class. We shall neither congratulate nor condole with our neighbors to the south of us on the result, as time and experience alone can demonstrate whether it was a wise move or not, and it will be profitless for the people directly concerned to allow any differences to exist as to what an unknown future may bring to pass. The NEWS believes that the greatest opportunity for the harmonious working out of the best interests of this entire section was unwisely turned down on the third day of January last when the voters refused to consolidate the entire community from Eagle Rock to the San Fernando road and from Casa Verdugo to the Los Angeles city limits. But that is rapidly passing into ancient history and there is nothing for good citizens to do just now but recognize facts as they exist and pull together as much as possible in working out our common destiny. We do not at all agree with the views expressed by a correspondent in another column as to the desirability of a number of small municipalities in a community which ought to be united, but we consistently uphold the principle of a rule by majorities. Whether Tropico is allowed by the court to remain a city, whether some time in the future the voters should reverse their decision of Tuesday or whatever may be the ultimate result, the people of the two small cities should abide in harmony regardless of artificial boundaries.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY FOR WOMEN.

It is probable that the law preparing to limit to eight hours a day's work for a woman, will be adopted. The labor unions want it and the sentimentalists insist upon it. There is probably no state in the union in which there is so little need for this law as there is in California. It is a law that is particularly applicable to and necessary for the factory towns and the overcrowded cities of the eastern states where large numbers of women are employed under conditions far from sanitary. But it is doubtful if even in San Francisco there are any considerable number of women working for wages who require the protection of such legislation. The proponents of the law seem to be possessed of an idea that labor for wages, particularly woman's labor for wages, is a kind of slavery, and all who practice it are objects for the charitable protection of statutes. It is extremely doubtful if the large number of women in California who work for wages appreciate the beneficient efforts of the Sacramento solons, and they will have less of such appreciation when the results of the adoption of the law begin to affect them. In the first place it will undoubtedly diminish their wages, for by no hocus pocus of legislation can employers be compelled to pay nine hours' wages for eight hours' work. In the second place it is likely to deprive many of them of employment, as employers will in some and possibly in many cases substitute men in the places of women whom they now employ. Labor by women for wages is neither necessarily slavery or drudgery, and in many cases is a choice between what some of the sex consider as the unrequited toil at household duties for unlimited hours, and a position of comparative independence. Possibly it might be better for society if all women preferred the humble but honorable duties of the housewife to the allurements of regular hours of work at fixed wages, but that is a deeper and another question. The law proposes to permit women to work over hours in "emergency" cases, but the employer must file an affidavit averring the necessity of the case.

Imagine the manaegr of a telephone or telegraph or railroad office attempting to comply with a law of this kind in the almost every day experience in these branches of business! Imagine also the appreciation which the efforts of the Sacramento statesmen will receive from the young lady salary worker who sees her chance cut off from earning a few dollars extra by an occasional hour's extra work.

Verily the business of reforming things by statutory enactment is uphill work!

THE BOND ELECTION.

On the date of our next issue (Friday) Glendale city will vote upon the question of issuing bonds to the extent of $18,000 for the purpose of buying lots and building a city hall. The matter has been explained fully in these columns before but is herein set forth again more briefly.

The issue of the officially called election is simply bonds or no bonds and requires a two-thirds of the vote cast to carry. The probability seems to favor the carrying of the election for the bonds, but there will be a lively contest over the question of sites which is to be settled by a straw vote at a separate ballot box. There has been but one material change in the situation from conditions as they existed when we went into detail as to the matter two weeks ago and that is the reduction in the price of the suggested library site, Fifth and Kenwood streets. The city has now an option from the owner for the sum of $3500 instead of $4000, the first amount mentioned.

The question to be decided by the straw vote is a choice between the following two propositions:

The Fourth and Howard street lot at a price of $6677.50 for a city hall, in conjunction with the three lots corner of Fifth and Kenwood, being a frontage of 150 feet on the northwest corner, at a price of $3500, for a library, to be erected some time in the future; or

The three lots on the northwest corner of Fourth and Jackson streets, having a frontage of 150 feet on Fourth street with a depth on Jackson of 185 feet at a price of $9100, upon which to erect both city hall and library. In connection with the latter site is the offer of Mr. Ambrosini to give the city $500 if these lots, of which he is the owner of one, are sold to the city.

The supporters of the Howard and Fourth street proposition argue that as the center of Glendale is in the neighborhood of Fourth and Adams streets, it will not be a fair division of territory to put the city hall any further west than this proposed site, that further than this it is located near the city fire house and that as there is a strong probability of Glendale ultimately becoming part of the city of Los Angeles, the sum of say $10,000 will put up a municipal building ample for all purposes proposed until such a time shall arrive. They think also that the location of a library at Fifth and Kenwood is a fair division of honors and that library and city hall should not be crowded on to one site.

On the other hand there are those who think that the city buildings should be located near the present center of population which is nearer Jackson than Howard streets, and they argue that thereafter there is bound to be an extension of the city westward which will change present geographical centers very radically. Furthermore there are some who think that the sum proposed to be expended for a city hall is inadequate to make a satisfactory showing and that the whole matter should be deferred until conditions are more permanent.

GREATER GLENDALE COMMUNITY.

By Sidney Dell.

Editor Glendale News:

Pray excuse a suggestion from a loyal friend of the Glendale Community. I take it as an accepted truth that all of the eastern end of San Fernando valley, including Glendale, Tropico and Casa Verdugo, possibly also Eagle Rock, is one community in interest and having a common destiny.

A ten years' forecast will disclose to the mental vision of the local patriot a populous suburb in this region having its "outer walls" on the circumjacent hills, wherefrom may be viewed a city of 50,000 wide awake citizens holding aloft the Glendale banner bearing the strange device, "Excelsior."

That ultimate destiny, however, should be approached with careful deliberation by open action, in civic discussion through carefully selected delegates from the several distinct subcommunities who must be truly representative and who should resubmit to the masses their views. It should not be left to self constituted delegates with secret schemes, selected in the dark for possibly sinister purposes.

To this desired end it is highly important to first organize the subcommunities, who may thus select their best and wisest men to plan a future for resubmission to the masses in civic discussion. These be axioms, or self-evident truths, of every life.

I hail it as most fortunate for this great community that Glendale initiated organization some five years ago and is now our leader. I hail it as wise that Eagle Rock has also incorporated its sub-community. It would be in like line of progress that Tropico shall do likewise, and, ere long, that Casa Verdugo shall become a sixth class city. These steps organize the people—a vital step in popular government. They prepare the way for delegates of our wisest and most unselfish men and women, openly chosen, to meet in Glendale and map out an ideal future, instead of leaving it to schemers in the dark with cards up their sleeves.

The problems of uniting our several subcommunities into one and of that one joining its destiny with Los Angeles by borough-consolidation; the problem of needed legislation to carry out our purposes, of Owens river water, of municipal railways, and other public utilities, all these can and should be mapped out by these best men of these several communities and sixth class cities having a common destiny.

Truly, Mr. Editor, I hail Eagle Rock and Tropico as sixth class cities for the power it gives our people to create a Greater Glendale community on wise lines and safety, instead of leaving it to haphazard schemes.

GLENDALE PROMOTION COMPANY.

The following proposition which explains itself is handed to us by the promoter who desires its consideration by the community.

"Whereas, It is deemed important, in order to properly push Glendale's best interests, that a corporation for that purpose should be organized to facilitate that object;

Now, Therefore, We, the Undersigned, do hereby agree that we will organize such a corporation, to be called the Glendale Promotion Company, and to take the number of shares therein as set opposite our respective signatures.

Said corporation shall be organized upon the following basis:

1. Capital stock, $50,000, divided into shares of the par value of $100 each; (3) payment for stock may be made in city lots at a fair cash valuation made by an impartial valuation board of five members.

2. The business of the corporation shall be (a) acquiring title to vacant lots, or vacant acreage, within the city limits of Glendale at a fair cash valuation; (b) building modern homes thereon for sale to newcomers, especially, and others. For which purpose a competent builder is to be secured either on a per cent or by selling to him at an advance sufficient to secure ten per cent on our investment, or other special and desirable contract; (c) selling the homes on easy terms, equivalent to a little more than rent. For which purpose a Los Angeles agency is to be established or secured on favorable terms, and the project largely advertised.

3. The main office shall be in Glendale City, California.

When a corporation shall be organized upon the above basis, we will subscribe for stock therein as set out below:

GLENDALE, CAL., MARCH 10, 1911

Women on Warships.

In the British navy of Nelson's day it was not uncommon for wives to live aboard men-o'-war with their sailor husbands. Scarce one of England's "walls of oak" in Nelson's time but had some woman aboard who braved the perils and hardships of the sea in order to be with her husband. In nearly every one of the twenty-seven line of battleships under Nelson's command in the great battle of Trafalgar was one or more women, wives of sailors. Surprise may be expressed that English men-of-war's men were permitted to have their wives aboard. It was only by special permission of the admiralty that this could be done—and then permission was granted somewhat in the light of a penance for sanctioning the press gang system, which was largely in vogue at that time. Men were seized in the streets and other public places and compelled to serve in British warships because "the king needed men." Some of the men thus seized had political influence and, being unjustly compelled to serve in the navy, were permitted to have their wives share their involuntary servitude.

A Mean Advantage.

In a breach of promise case the barrister who held the brief for injured beauty arranged that his fair client should be so placed that her charms should be well under the observation of the jury. He began a most pathetic appeal by directing their attention to her beauty and calling for justice upon the head of him who could wound the heart and betray the confidence of one so fair, concluding with a peroration of such pathos as to melt the court to tears. The counsel for the defendant then rose, and after paying the lady the compliment of admitting that it was impossible not to assent to the encomiums lavished upon her face he added that nevertheless he felt bound to ask the jury not to forget that she wore a wooden leg. Then he sat down. The important fact of which the fair plaintiff's counsel was unaware was presently established, and the jury, feeling rather sheepish at their tears, assessed damages at the smallest amount.

The American Baby.

The American baby has a fine, strong ancestry. The young men of England who were impatient of religious restraint and of physical oppression; the young men of Germany touched with the dream of democracy; the pick of northern Europe, the strong, the fair, the self reliant, the conscientious English at bottom, but with a dash of the best blood of other races—this is the American baby, and no king and no lord ever had a better heritage. Take it as it goes, in Massachusetts, in Ohio, in Michigan, in Washington, in California, the average American baby has in its veins more of the blood of the Plantagenets than any king now living has. It was his fortune to have come from the daughter lines and the lines of the younger sons, not from the elder son, whom British custom has marked for the aristocrat.—David Starr Jordan.

Spoiled His Sport.

"How many ducks did you shoot, Pat?"

"The divil a wan."

"Weren't there any there?"

"Sure th' lake wor full av thim, but iv'ry toime I'd point me gun at wan, d'ye moind, another wan w'd get betwixt me an' him an' spoil me a'm!"—Toledo Blade.

Comparatively Easy.

"Oh, not so hard. I know of a dozen men with schemes that you could go into."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Beauty and the Beast.

A well known churchman was visiting New York, accompanied by his wife, who is as beautiful as her life mate is homely. They were walking down Broadway one afternoon, and the pair attracted much attention. One of two young "sports," evidently thinking to attract the favorable attention of the churchman's wife, in an audible aside remarked that it was another case of "the beauty and the beast." Quick as a wink the husband turned and, as he swung his right to the speaker's jaw, scoring a knockout, said, "I am a man of peace, but I never allow any one to call my wife a beast."

Solitude.

Solitude is dangerous to reason without being favorable to virtue. Pleasures of some sort are necessary to the intellectual as to the corporal health, and those who resist gayety will be likely for the most part to fall a sacrifice to appetite, for the solicitations of sense are always at hand, and a dram to a vacant and solitary person is a speedy and seducing relief. Remember that the solitary person is certainly luxurious, probably superstitious and possibly mad. The mind stagnates for want of employment and is extinguished, like a candle in foul air.—Johnson.

Rastus and His Razzer.

"You are charged with carrying a razor," said the magistrate. "What have you to say?"

"But hit's a safety razzer," pleaded Rastus.

"What difference does that make?" the court asked.

"Well, yo' hono,' a safety razzer am carried only fo' de moral effect."

A Fair Proposition.

"But," the patient exclaimed, "your advertisement said 'no cure, no pay.'"

"I shall cure you," the doctor replied, "if you only will be patient and give me time."

"Very well. I will pay you if you will be patient and give me time. When shall I call again?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Meditation.

Try to secure some part of each day for meditation. Apart from men we can look ourselves more honestly in the face, lift up our hearts to God and give our panting lives a chance.—Stevenson.

Grant and Pickett.

New evidence that the great men are the true men—true to themselves, to their country and to their friends—appears in a story told in Colonel Nicholas Smith's book, "Grant, the Man of Mystery."

While Grant was president General G. E. Pickett, who led the fatal charge against the Union forces the last day at Gettysburg, called at the White House to pay his respects. Grant knew that his old comrade at West Point had been made a poor man by the war and offered him the marshalship of Virginia. While sorely needing help, General Pickett knew the heavy draft made upon the president by office seekers.

"You can't afford to do this for me," he said, "and I can't afford to take it."

"I can afford to do anything I please that is right," Grant replied quietly.

Peppered Ice Cream.

"There's pepper in that," said a restaurant waiter, pointing to a small silver shaker he had placed beside a heaping dish of ice cream he was carring to a guest. "Sure, it's to put on the ice cream, too," he replied when an inquirer failed to see the connection between the two.

"Lots of folks want to put pepper on their ices. You see, if a man's stomach is sensitive the cold cream hurts him, but pepper is stimulating enough to overcome the effects of the cold. And the funny thing is that you don't taste the pepper at all. The ice cream is so cold that it kills the other. If you don't believe it I'll give you some with pepper, and you'll find that there's no taste of pepper there at all."

There wasn't.—New York Sun.

Miles' Grave.

"Which is the deepest, the longest, the broadest and the smallest grave in the churchyard?" said a pedestrian to his companion while meditating among the tombs in the burying ground at Esher.

"Why," replied his companion, "it is that in which poor Miles Button lies buried, for it contains Miles below the sod, Miles in length and Miles in breadth, and yet, after all, it is but a Button-hole."—Pearson's Weekly.

Effect of Tight Lacing.

"Is tight lacing unwise?" a teacher asked a young lady in a physiology lesson.

"Yes, it is very unwise," was the reply.

"Why is it unwise?" the teacher pursued.

"Because it busts the corset," said the young lady.—Exchange.

HUXLEY AND THE BIBLE.

By Ferdinand Iglehart, in Sacramento Union.

Professor Huxley, who invented the word "agnostic," and claimed to be an agnostic all his life, entertained views of the Bible in his last years which greatly surprised the world.

Sir John Lubbeck, in an address given before the Anthropological Institute in London, gave a quotation from an address of Professor Huxley before the London school board, in which he maintains the importance of the Bible to the mental and moral training of the children. The following is what the professor said:

"I have been seriously perplexed to know by what practical measures the religious feeling, which is the essential basis of conduct, was to be kept up, in the present utterly chaotic state of opinion on these matters, without the use of the Bible.

"Take the Bible as a whole, make the several deductions which fair criticism can dictate for shortcomings and positive errors, eliminate, as a sensible lay teacher would do if left to himself, all that it is not desirable for children to occupy themselves with, and there still remains in the old literature a vast residium of moral beauty and grandeur. And then consider the great historical fact that for three centuries this book has been woven into the life of all that is best and noblest in English history; that it has become the national epic of Britain, and is as familiar to noble and simple from John o' Groat's house to Land's End as Dante and Tasso were once to Italians; that it is written in the noblest and purest English, and abounds in exquisite beauties of mere literary form, and, finally, it forbids the veriest hind who never left his village to be ignorant of the existence of other countries and other civilizations, a great past, stretching back to the furthest limits of the oldest nations in the world.

"By the study of what other book could children be so humanized and made to feel that each figure in that vast historical procession fills, like themselves, but a momentary space in the interval between two eternities, and earns the blessing or the curse of all time according to its effort to do good and hate evil, even as they also are earning their payment for their work?"

The Bible, with the human element so beautifully emphasized by the professor and the divine authority which he denied, is at the basis of all best culture and learning, and is indispensable to the education and salvation of childhood.

Often Saves Human Life

WHEN the doctor is summoned to the farm, it is generally in an emergency case.

Often it is a matter of life or death.

A member of the family has been stricken with sudden illness or an accident has occurred.

Every minute's delay reduces the chances of recovery.

It is then that the Bell Telephone is "worth its weight in gold" to the anxious farmer.

It pays for itself then and there.

Your quality of metal proving.

And see that money flows along
Untrammeled to the rest of us
And monetary stringency
No longer get the best of us!

Then here's a health to Jim and Frank
Our two joint high commisioners,
Fate puts them in the foremost rank
And we are her petitioners,
Who pray that she will give them skill
To regulate the pesky stuff
And lubricate the public till
So all of us may have enough!

Mrs. W. W. Stetson, state president of the American Daughters of the Revolution, urges all who are eligible to that society to report to Mrs. Mary H. Gridley of Brand boulevard.

For Saturday evening, March 11, Mrs. Edmund S. Shank of Riverside drive has issued invitations for "An evening of song" to be given by her pupils in Symphony hall, Los Angeles.

Mr. Merriken, brother of Mr. S. A. Merirken, 1529 Ivy street, with whom he and family have been making their home for some months, have recently moved, and are now located on Orange street near Fifth.

Mrs. Thomas Atkinson of Milford street entertained Thursday at luncheon followed by an afternoon at the card tables. The house was beautiful with seasonable decorations and the affair was a thorough social success.

Charles Shropshire of the steamship South Dakota, was again in Glendale over the week end. He is a member of the South Dakota orchestra which furnished music Saturday evening for the banquet given in honor of the sailors in port.

Mrs. Edward C. Robertson entertained with a matinee party Wednesday afternoon in honor of her niece Miss Eleanor Barry. After the play tea was served at Hotel Alexandria. Miss Barry is a senior at the Westlake school for girls.

Mrs. Charles Shattuck of Central avenue was hostess Wednesday noon of a handsomely appointed luncheon followed by an afternoon of bridge whist. The guests were principally from out of town, but several Glendale ladies were present.

The Sunset Telephone Company has added another name on its payroll. The name of Mr. J. C. Booth. Mr. Booth arrived March 2 and is at present taking a special course of study under the tutorship of his father Mr. Frank D. Booth, 1501 West Seventh. Young J. C. tipped the scales at 8 pounds and both he and mother are doing nicely.

Next Saturday at 2 o'clock the Political Equality League, will unite with the Mother's Congress in Choral hall of Temple auditorium. The program will consist of addresses on subjects of the most vital interest to be given by the most eminent Southern California speakers and prominent eastern visitors. All who are interested are urged to attend.

Mrs. Frank B. Long, district chairman of household economics will address the members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club in Filger's hall at their next meeting on March 16. All who are interested will be made welcome and are urged to attend.

The program will also consits of several musical numbers and refreshments will be served during the social hour.

Who says it doesn't pay to advertise, especially in THE NEWS? Why, last week, the ink had scarcely dried on the "squib" that was written in reference to the new telephone numbers, when along came Mr. Frank Deal and his retinue of small boys, with a whole wagonload of telephone books as large as McGuffy's old-fashioned geography. For quick results, fry an ad in this paper.

"Cupid" Watson of 1203 Brand boulevard has changed his name to plain "Grandpa," and he likes it just fine, and has been going bareheaded for the want of a hat of proper dimensions. Little Miss Anita Robinson, who is the cause of all this, arrived February 26th, and while the climate doesn't exactly suit her, at present, she thinks she will soon become acclimated, and take up her permanent residence with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Robinson of Palmer avenue. Mrs. Robinson is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Watson of Tropico, and has a host of friends throughout the valley, all of whom are showering both herself and husband with congratulations.

Musicians and Sneezing.

Nobody can dispute the sincerity of the players in a big orchestra like the Philharmonic or the New York Symphony. Most of the time they take their work seriously, but sometimes the men break loose and play tricks on one another as though they were youngsters in school. Of course the audience knows nothing of these things; they're usually perpetrated in rehearsals.

The red pepper trick is the commonest. The jokers scatter it where the bassoon and trombone players are likely to suck it up. The result is chokes and sneezes. Sometimes the epidemic reaches even into the strings, but of conrse the players on the wind instruments get it worst.

As a matter of fact, the jokers are playing with fire. "A confirmed sneezer can't get a job in a good orchestra, no matter how good a performer he may be," said a consistent concert goer. "Think of the effect of a rousing sneeze on a pianissimo! Why, it would spoil a whole concert, one sneeze would. A conductor has to guard against a sneeze as he does against inebriety."—New York Sun.

A Lucky Game of Chess.

A story is told of the Moorish prince Abul Hejex, who was thrown into prison for sedition by his brother Mohammed, king of Granada. There he remained for several years until the king, fearing he might escape, placed himself at the head of a fresh revolt and seized the crown, ordering one of his pashas to see to his immediate execution. Abul Hejex was playing at chess when the pasha came and bade him prepare for death. The prince asked for two hours' respite, which was refused. After earnest entreaty he obtained permission to finish his game. He was in no hurry about the moves, we are told, and well for him he was not, for before an hour had elapsed a messenger brought the news that Mohammed had been struck dead by apoplexy, and Abul was forthwith proclaimed king of Granada. It was indeed a small favor for the pasha to grant, but it altered the whole current of the king's career.

Elephant Humor.

The courage of a lion at bay, great as it is, is no greater than that of the buffalo, and he must yield his scepter to the elephant, declares H. L. Tangye in his book, "In the Torrid Sudan," as to courage, size, strength and intelligence. It is a temptation to declare that the elephant possesses a sense of humor. A herd of elephants once fell in with a train of donkeys. Their attention concentrated on the load the donkeys carried. With all the mischief of monkeys, the loads were torn asunder and their contents distributed over half the province. At Bor, on the Mountain Nile, the elephants were at one time full of practical jokes. Passing at night time through the village, they would knock the sleepers up by demolishing their huts above their heads, then contentedly march away.

TROPICO

Dwaine Carpenter of Park avenue, has returned for a visit of several days at Covina.

Mr. Asmot of Santa Monica, arrived in Tropico Wednesday afternoon and will pass several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cointe of 1175 Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Seward of Saugus, will arrive in Tropico early in the week for a visit of several weeks with Mrs. C. G. Winebrenner and family of Park avenue.

Mr. Murdock and family, who for the past few months have occupied a cottage on West Moore avenue and Blanche avenue, has taken possession of the Malcom property, corner Park avenue and the boulevard, which was vacated recently by Mrs. Marple and family.

We wish to correct an error that appeared in last week's edition. Instead of Gerald Kirkham starting in the feed and fuel business at the corner of Palmer and Central avenues, the business is being started by Kirkham Bros., Gerald and Ruben being partners in the enterprise.

Although Tropico has been a city now for three whole days, we fail to see any evidences of the streets light or the city hall and library. It's time they were getting busy or their neighbor, Burbank, who will doubtless launch out soon, will be leaving them in the shade.

A unique contest is being run by Ed Weston, the Tropico photographer. Two photos are exhibited, one taken by Weston the other taken years ago. A dozen $12 photos are being given to the one submitting the best letter telling why Weston's photo is a better one than that taken long ago. The competition is open to all.

Beginning next Sunday special revival services will be held at the Tropico Methodist church on Palmer avenue. During the opening week of the series the meetings will be conducted by the pastor assisted by local talent, but the following week Rev. Botkin will be assisted by Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Ireland, prominent evangelists and gospel singers.

TROPICO METHODIST GLEANINGS.

The Ladies' Aid held an all-day meeting in the church, Tuesday.

Rev. Henry Goodsell will deliver the morning discourse in this church next Sunday. The public is cordially invited to attend.

An Epworth League business meeting and social will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claver, 1124 Tenth street, this (Friday) evening. Unique invitations have been issued and the affair promises to be unusually enjoyable.

The children's meetings which have been held every afternoon for the past week, have been discontinued temporarily until the weather becomes more favorable. The attendance at these meetings has been very encouraging to the pastor.

A farewell reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. George Seal in the church Tuesday evening by the members of this church. Mr. and Mrs. Seal will leave about the 20th of this month for Montana, where they will take up a homestead. As a parting gift from the church members and friends Mr. and Mrs. Seal were presented with a beautiful leather-bound Bible. The reception proved an unusually enjoyable affair. Mr. and Mrs. Seal will be greatly missed in the church as they have been active workers for a long time.

A small boy of four, in one of our nearby towns on waking up one morning and seeing all the snow on the mountains cried to his mamma to "Come quick, mamma, the mountains are all covered with icing."

Mr. J. T. McClellan, has the contract for a fine $3000 residence to be built on West Third street near Remington avenue. Another home will be erected soon on the opposite side of First street near the home of F. G. Taylor. This will cost between $3000 and $4000.

West Glendale School Register continues to grow, hardly a day passes but a new scholar is added, and at the present writing there are 232 scholars enrolled. The boys as well as the girls of the Fifth grade are interested in the gardens that are being planted and take a great interest in the same.

Any one wishing to see a real chicken ranch, can do so by visiting the Walton ranch, Central near Dryden avenue. There they will find between 2000 and 3000 chickens and will be able to see at the present time about ten incubators each holding 600 eggs, and run by electricity. These eggs are of the White Leghorn variety exclusively. Mr. O. S. Sampson who has charge of this ranch made a large shipment of young chicks to Arizona recently with the best of success, not a chicken being injured or lost.

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW.

San Bernardino, Cal., Mar. 2—Arrangements for the National Orange Show to be held in this city March 6 to 11 have progressed so far that the only question now is how to accommodate the exhibitors that are clamoring for space. So great has been this demand that already the committee in charge has been forced to place a limit on the space asked for, which in most instances is not more than half of what is desired.

INCORPORATION ELECTION.

The rain did not deter the voters from turning out to express their sentiment in regard to this subject which has agitated the community to the point of insurrection for weeks past. The court having refused to intervene to prevent the election from coming off, takes the matter of its legality up next Monday when Judge Wilbur will give his decision. There are in the now incorporated territory 330 voters. The total vote cast was 285; 18 votes were thrown out on the ground of irregularity. Votes cast for incorporation 157; against 110.

If there is one thing on earth that a quitter should leave severely alone, it is advertising. To make a success of advertising, one must be prepared to stick to it like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. Advertising doesn't jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It is likened to a team pulling a heavy load. A thousand spasmodic, jerky pulls will not budge that load, while one-half the power in steady effort will start it and keep it moving.—John Wanamaker.

DEATH OF DR. J. L. WITT.

Dr. J. L. Witt, who for some time resided at 1453 West Fourth street, died after an operation at the American hospital in St. Louis, Mo., on Friday last. Dr. Witt while living in Glendale, made many friends and was highly respected by every one. He leaves besides his widow, two sons, Mr. John V. Witt, who is with the U. S. army, and Mr. Edwin M. Witt, well known to every one in Glendale and who left on Saturday last to attend the funeral which was held on Tuesday at Logan, Iowa, in the old family plot.

BIG FOUR DANCE.

Last Friday evening the "Big Four" otherwise Mr. George Mitchell, Mr. Granville McClure, Mr. Fay Stone, and Mr. Ed Kratchy, entertained their friends in the K. of P. hall.

The hall was appropriately and artistically decorated with penants and school emblems. Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mrs. E. D. Goode and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell acted as patronesses of the evening. The majority of the younger set was present and the evening was greatly enjoyed by all, both music and floor being excellent.
